B. Braun continually assesses compliance to ISO 13485 within the business through an internal audit process.

3. Our Suppliers Due Diligence Processes

B. Braun understands the challenge of ensuring high social, ethical and environmental standards within its business and throughout its supply chain. As a result, B. Braun is committed to working collaboratively with its suppliers to ensure that these standards are continually improving.

In order to achieve this, B. Braun has developed an Ethical Trading Policy drawing on the internationally acknowledged ETI base code.

This Policy defines B. Braun's minimum standards and the basic principles we expect from all our suppliers and contractors. B. Braun is committed to ensuring that the standards outlined in the policy are effectively implemented, measured and monitored throughout our global supply chain and we require the support of our suppliers to achieve this goal.

Suppliers are required to complete a Supplier Questionnaire which includes the requirement that they agree to comply with B. Braun's Ethical Trading Policy, Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Policy and Supplier Code of Conduct, prior to undertaking any trade with them.

Contract Clauses

B. Braun has a Modern Slavery clause in our standard agreements and terms and conditions for procuring goods and services from our suppliers.

During the course of 2025 B. Braun has continued to directly contact suppliers to confirm their annual turnover and, if applicable (over £36 million), requested a copy of their Modern Slavery Act Transparency Statement.

2025 Initiatives

Braun SE have published the Group Human Rights Declaration which sets out the commitment to uphold and promote human rights in the course of its business activities. The declaration is a binding framework of conditions for world-wide activities and applies to all B. Braun Group companies, and its supply chain.

B. Braun SE have prepared the Group Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) Standards for Suppliers which is based on the internationally recognised standards including the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the ILO (International Labor Organisation) Core Labor Standards. It applies to all business relations between the B. Braun worldwide Group and its Suppliers. In addition, B. Braun expects our suppliers to respect human rights, ethics, and environmental standards to their upstream supply chain.

B. Braun SE have initiated an evaluation of suppliers, by way of survey, through the external service provider IntegrityNext or EcoVadis. This survey includes a wide range of questions encompassing the topics of environmental, sustainability, employment practices and procurement.

Our ESG Standard for Suppliers is an essential part of our supplier contracts and requires suppliers to meet the Standards. It makes it clear to our suppliers that we only want to buy products and services from responsible third parties. These requirements are monitored through performance controls such as supplier evaluations and audits. Integrated software solutions for supplier qualification and monitoring help us achieve increased transparency across our supply chains. We obtain relevant information on the sustainability efforts of our suppliers and take specific actions when needed. We also conduct annual reviews where we can address compliance with our required Standards.

B. Braun's goal is to use a comprehensive risk management system to help identify, document, evaluate and minimize actual and potential risks that may arise in our business operations and in global supply chains early on. As a result, we implemented a supplier risk management process across our entire purchasing portfolio. Supplier risk is determined using real-time data from an independent service provider, which allows us to continuously monitor and control risks in our own supply chain.

We acknowledge that lower-tier supply chain visibility remains an area for improvement.

In 2026, this will be enhanced through site-level assessments and strengthened escalation processes.

4. Risk Assessment and Management

B. Braun is dependent on a large and diverse range of suppliers, who form an integral part of B. Braun's ability to provide quality products and services. The supply chain at Tier 1, Tier 2 and Tier 3 level is extremely complicated, given that B. Braun sells over 37,000 products in the UK alone.

Country Profiles are used to inform the person carrying out the risk assessment. Information within these profiles includes minimum wage levels, minimum working age(s), country demographics/economy, specific ethical risk areas and how many of the ten fundamental ILO (United Nations agency - International Labour Organisation) conventions the country has ratified, enforced or denounced. From these country profiles a level of ethical risk is attributed (low/high).

Additionally
in 2026:

Targeted 3rd party risk-assessments of high-risk manufacturing sites in 4 locations are in development (Germany, Poland, Malaysia, China).

Focus areas include labour practices, recruitment and working conditions.

Outputs will include risk profiles and corrective action plans.

Measuring Effectiveness

B. Braun work across many different existing supply chains and continue to review the policies and processes in these supply chains for compliance with the Modern Slavery Act 2015.

During the course of analysing and risk assessing the supply chain, where B. Braun identify that corrective action is required by a supplier, a Corrective and Preventive Action Plan ('CAPA') will be issued. B. Braun will work collaboratively with its suppliers to ensure that any CAPA is effectively launched, monitored and closed within the period deemed necessary to address any non-compliances found. In 2020 the B. Braun Group launched the Group Strategy for the Next Decade. One of the primary tenets of the strategy is the 'Joint Commitment' which includes a Group Commitment to sustainability, on environmental, social and economic grounds and embracing diversity and inclusion on a global basis. The Group Strategy incorporates technological and digital initiatives, monitoring goal achievements, and measuring the effectiveness of the sustainability and diversity management plans.

6. Education and Training to raise awareness of Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking

The Compliance Committee has responsibility for ensuring that all employees are aware of B. Braun's statement of compliance with the Modern Slavery Act 2015, B. Braun's Modern Slavery Policy and its on-going commitments. The Compliance Committee shall ensure that this statement is displayed on the company intranet and B. Braun Knowledge Centre ('BKC').

Training continues to be delivered to employees and management who have direct responsibility for supply chain management, particularly with respect to mitigation of modern slavery risks within the supply chain.

Employees are required to complete an interactive training module on the Modern Slavery Act. This training module will be refreshed and delivered to employees every 2 years. This training module sets a KPI which is measured via an in-course test with a pass rate set at 80%. B. Braun requires a minimum of 85% of employees to have completed the training at any point in time of the rolling training programme, to mitigate modern slavery in the organisation. In 2025 this KPI was achieved with 86% of employees having completed and passed the training module.

For 2026 we retain the employee training KPI with a refreshed module to be completed by the end of the year. Employees will continue to complete and pass the training on a biannual basis within the established criteria.

B. Braun employees in roles that are directly involved in the selection of suppliers; Procurement, Purchasing, Tenders, Product Managers and the Labour Standards Working Group have received training on Labour Standards and Ethics which includes raising awareness of the risks of forced labour, slavery and human trafficking. We aim to review and improve this in 2026.

A new initiative for 2025 was giving our Tier 1 Suppliers the opportunity to access to our online Modern Slavery training module. Thirty-three percent have completed this and will be expected to repeat the training every two years. Our next step is to offer this training to Tier 2 suppliers in 2026.
